UUM-OYAGSB MASTERCLASS IN EMPLOYEE ENGAGEMENT 5 LANGUAGES OF APPRECIATION AT WORK

Individuals in the workplace need to feel appreciated and valued so that they are motivated to do their best, satisfied in their job, and engaged at work. This is part of effective people management to motivate, lead and also manage multi-generational workforce so that organisations have high performing teams.

Do you face challenges in managing your people despite putting effort and time to appreciate them but it seemed unvalued by them? How can you be more effective in people management? Appreciation is like “Different Strokes for Different Folks”- Employees and co-workers value appreciation based on their preferred appreciative language. The 5 languages enable you to apply authentic, personalised and effective appreciation that is valued and recognised by your people, colleagues and co-workers. It helps you discover your blind spots in appreciation, and how can you appreciate and motivate them to reach higher performance and potential as part of People Management better.

Appreciation at the workplace is a good “investment”; it leads to job satisfaction and inculcates a positive working relationship that fosters a productive and performing organisation. When your people are appreciated and motivated, they bring a positive attitude and behaviour to serve internal and external customers.

*As leaders and managers, do you have limited financial resources?
How to appreciate your people without monetary rewards?*

By applying the 5 Languages of Appreciation at Work - Words of Affirmation, Quality Time, Acts of Service, and Tangible Gifts, appreciation goes beyond monetary and extrinsic rewards yet reaping more effective and sustainable benefits.

CREATING BETTER WORKPLACES THROUGH AUTHENTIC APPRECIATION

The Masterclass is based on The 5 Languages of Appreciation in the Workplace, #1 New York Times Bestselling book. The Masterclass provides enhanced content, practical tools, techniques, application and hands-on practice.
